

HOW DO YOU GET HERE?

BY CAR
 Vermont resorts are an easy, convenient drive from anywhere in the East. Interstates 89 and 91 and Vermont Route 100, the fabled skiers' highway, provide excellent access to our mountains and villages.

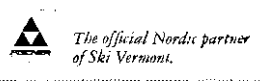

BY TRAIN
 Two Amtrak routes operate between Washington, D.C., New York City and Vermont, providing daily passenger service to many of Vermont's mountain communities. For information, log onto Amtrak.com or call the resort you plan to visit.

BY BUS
 Vermont Transit, part of the Greyhound system, connects Vermont communities with Boston, Montreal, New York and other regional and national destinations. Call 1.800.231.2222 for information.

BY AIR
 With excellent air service, Burlington International Airport is a convenient point of access to northern and central Vermont resorts. Major air carriers include Continental, Delta, JetBlue, United and US Airways. For those who prefer charter flights or have a personal aircraft, Heritage Aviation is ideal. Visitors to central and southern resorts often fly to Albany; Boston; Hartford; Manchester N.H.; Newark, N.J.; and Rutland Vt. Gateway cities for international visitors include Boston, New York, Montreal, Philadelphia and Washington, D.C. Rental cars are available at all airports and many resorts offer ground transportation.
